Kakinada: A seminar on career guidance for first year students of engineering and pharmacy was held at JNTU-K campus. Indian Railway Service officer A Satish participated in the seminar as the chief guest.

Speaking on the occasion, Satish said that the students can achieve goals by having a clear understanding of the career that they have chosen.

“When we are in a high position, we should serve society and extend our services as a socially responsibility,” he said.

Principal Prof P Subba Rao said that after graduation, there are many professional fields available for students to choose from according to students’ interests. He said that corporate firms offer excellent salaries and incentives to the bright students and told them to avail of the opportunity. A large number of students and others participated in the programme.
